

Climate Change and Pollinators –
What's Happening and What Should We Do About It?
 Pollination Guelph's 13th Annual Pollination Symposium
 March 14, 2020 at the Guelph Curling Club, 816 Woolwich Street, Guelph, Ontario www.pollinationguelph.ca

Schedule	Speaker	Working Title
9am	Registration
9:25am	Karin Davidson-Taylor, Pollination Guelph	Welcome
9:30am	Victoria MacPhail, Pollination Guelph	Updates from Pollination Guelph & Ways to Engage, Educate, Communicate on Pollinator Topics
10:10am	Clement Kent, Horticultural Societies of Parkdale and Toronto	Kathy's Garden: Adapting Pollinator Habitat to Climate Change
10:40am	Refreshment Break
11:00am	David Ainslie, Farmer in Essex County	Farming with Pollinators and Biodiversity in Mind
11:30am	Mhairsi McFarlane, Nature Conservancy of Canada	Nature Conservancy of Canada's Actions for Pollinators Amidst a Changing Climate (Morning Keynote)
12:30pm	Lunch
1:30pm	Charlotte de Keyzer, University of Toronto	How are Pollinators and Plants reacting to Climate Change? (Afternoon Keynote)
2:30pm	Erin Aults, Royal Botanical Gardens	Heritage Seed Catalogues and the Environments They Changed
3pm	Refreshment Break
3:20pm	André Flys, Ontario Beekeepers Association	Beekeepers are naturalists too and how climate change is affecting our industry.
3:50pm	Susan Chan, University of Guelph	Where Wild Meets Cultivated: The Implications for a Wild Bee of Close Association with a Crop
4:20pm	Wrap-up Pollination Guelph

Share your experiences with us and the world today on Social Media! #PGEvents
 Twitter, Instagram: @PollinateGuelph Facebook: @PollinationGuelph

